Feds announce new card rules

PERSONAL FINANCE Credit card issuers in Canada will have to provide a standard 21-day grace period on payments for new purchases under regulations being introduced by Ottawa, but the rules fall short of tough new U.S. regulations.

The new regulations — part of an eight-point action plan — are also designed to improve the financial literacy of the public, Finance Minister Jim Flaherty said Thursday, adding the 21-day grace period regulation was met with some resistance by financial institutions.

'Games' study brains

HEALTH A new research project at Misericordia Community Hospital is using a program resembling computer games to study brainwaves.

The researchers are exploring whether or not the condition of children with anxiety or depression can improve through measuring brainwave activity, or neurofeedback.

"It's a way to influence the brain's electrical activity," said Dylan Lampman, one of the study's two neurofeedback trainers.

To start, each study participant will have an EEG assessment, or brain scan, to determine where there are deficiencies in the brain. Sensors attached to the youngster's head and ears will display brain energy on an interactive display.

"It's similar to learning to ride a bike," Lampman said.

Participants will learn to make small corrections in their brain energy in the same way that people learn to make small corrections in leaning left or right to hold themselves up on a bike, he explained.

Researchers say they hope that the study will produce evidence that neurofeedback is an effective alternate treatment to medicines or therapy in treating anxiety or depression in children.

"I have no idea what I'm going to do with my money — but I do know we're getting married," Gabriel said, wrapping her arm around her elated fiancé, Eric Gravel.

Court paves way for abortion lawsuit

The New Brunswick Court of Appeal paved the way Thursday for Dr. Henry Morgentaler to sue the province for refusing to pay for abortions at his private clinic in Fredericton. "I accuse the government of New Brunswick of being sexist, male chauvinist, of victimizing and oppressing women," Morgentaler said in 2002. Morgentaler wants medicare to pay for abortions at his clinic, while the province says it only has to pay for abortions approved by two physicians and performed in hospitals. Currently, women pay the $750 fee themselves.

Nova Scotia Tories propose curfew for those younger than 16

POLITICS Nova Scotia parents could face up to a $500 fine if their children under 16 are out alone past 1 a.m., in a election promise made by Premier Rodney MacDonald Thursday.

Under the curfew proposed by the Progressive Conservatives, youth aged 15 or younger who are unattended between 1 and 6 a.m. could be stopped by police and taken home. If the problem persists the fine may be given to parents.

NDP justice critic Bill Estabrooks slammed the announcement, saying MacDonald is taking the wrong step by labelling all youth under 16 as criminals. "It's shameful, disrespectful to Nova Scotia youth and families, and against the advice put forward by law enforcement professionals," he said.

'He was just a weird guy'

Accused killer 'a little off,' says former acquaintance

It wasn't the first time Melanie Munger had been put ill at ease by Michael Rafferty. But the Facebook message she received in October 2007 from the 28-year-old self-proclaimed "hopeless romantic" set off alarm bells.

"He said he worked in a meat packing plant in Guelph and worked under a knife all day," Munger, 30, said yesterday in an interview.

"I thought there was something strange about that message. There was just something a little off about him."

Nearly a year and a half would pass before his name would resurface in Munger's mind.

Rafferty was arrested Wednesday and charged with murder and abducting a child under 16 in the case of missing eight-year-old Woodstock, Ont., girl Tori Stafford.

Terri-Lynne McClintic, 18, was also charged with abduction and being an accessory to murder.

The picture former friends and acquaintances of Rafferty paint is of a young man filled with contradictions.

He was deeply concerned with his personal appearance, but also conspicuous with his requests for places to stay when he got kicked out of home.

While most describe him as intelligent and even funny, "weird" and "odd" are common adjectives that crop up.

Michael Thomas Rafferty, 28, seen in a photo from Facebook, is charged with first-degree murder and abduction in the case of missing Woodstock, Ont., girl Victoria (Tori) Stafford.

But the thought Rafferty could be capable of the level of depravity needed to kidnap and murder a little girl never existed.

Munger, a St. Thomas resident, says she first met Rafferty in Toronto in 2001 through mutual friends.

"It didn't seem like he had a home," said Munger, recalling that Rafferty was nonetheless well dressed, always up-to-date with the latest fashions.

But there were hints of strangeness in Rafferty's character, enough to make Munger feel no urge to maintain regular communication with Rafferty, she said.

"He would end his Facebook messages with comments like 'I miss you' and 'You are one of the best ones.' He was just a weird guy," she said.

Suspects in New York terror case remanded

Three of four Muslim men suspected of a plot to blow up two New York synagogues and shoot down military planes were ordered to remain in jail Thursday in what police have called homegrown terrorism.

The case has shaken a neighbourhood in New York's Bronx borough where police said the men, who had been watched for nearly a year in a sting operation, planted what they thought were bombs in cars parked outside each synagogue.

The suspects then intended to shoot down planes with guided surface-to-air missiles but the explosives and the missiles, which had been sold to the accused plotters by an FBI informant, were deactivated, police said.

U.S. Magistrate Judge Lisa Smith ordered James Cromitie, 55, to remain in jail along with David Williams, 28, and Oonta Williams, 32. A fourth suspect, Laguerre Payen, was due to appear later on Thursday. "These are extremely violent men," federal prosecutor Eric Snyder told the court. "These people were eager to bring death to Jews."

Police said the suspects had criminal records and may have converted to a radical version of Islam while in prison. They had no known links to al-Qaida, police said. The FBI and New York police arrested the men on Wednesday after police say they planted 37 pounds of inert C-4 explosives in two cars parked outside each synagogue. From there police say they had planned to travel to an Air National Guard base in their hometown of Newburgh to shoot down planes.

"They stated that they wanted to commit jihad," NYPD commissioner Raymond Kelly told reporters. "They were disturbed about what was happening in Afghanistan and Pakistan ... they made the statement that if Jews were killed in this attack that would be all right."

New Zealand couple took the money and ran

ROTORUA New Zealand police have launched an international search for a couple who fled with millions of dollars after $10 million NZ ($6.9 million) was accidentally deposited into their bank account.

New Zealand's news agency NZPA said the couple, who ran a gas station in the northern city of Rotorua, had applied to Westpac Bank for a $10,000 overdraft but 1,000 times that amount was paid into their account in error.

A local newspaper, The Rotorua Review, quoted a source saying that a police liaison officer was sent to China recently to search for the couple.

Westpac refused to confirm the amount of money missing but said the bank was "pursuing vigorous criminal and civil action to recover the sum of money stolen."

IRELAND Victims of sexual abuse and neglect in Catholic-run schools and orphanages in Ireland swamped counselling services on Thursday after the publication of the findings of a nine-year investigation. "We've had 30 times as many calls as usual," said Bernadette Fahy of FRANCE Two French boys, aged six and 10, were arrested at school by half a dozen police officers and questioned for two hours over bicycle thefts, triggering public outrage. Politicians, teachers and parents said officers had over-reacted to the situation, but the police maintain they acted correctly. The six-year-old confessed to taking one of the bikes.

Storm of faith and politics in pageant

InStep

Christine Williams

Runner-up in the Miss USA Pageant: Miss California's Carrie Prejean continues to grab the spotlight after a storm of controversy over a question posed by a judge during the pageant. Celebrity blogger and gay activist Perez Hilton asked Prejean — an openly professing Christian — whether she believed in the legalization of same-sex marriage. She responded that she did not, while explaining that it was her personal opinion and not meant to offend anyone. With the events that followed, the volatile issues of gay rights, free speech, moral uprightness and religious sincerity were hurled into the public forum like a grenade.

Many believed Miss

Prejean's answer cost her the crown, including Perez Hilton who went on a subsequent tirade against her, calling her stupid and the b-word. His venom screamed: Agenda. Then according to Miss Prejean, Miss California USA officials pressured her to apologize for her statement and not talk about her Christian faith.

It was easy to sympathize with the 21-year-old young lady broad-sided by the hostile ridicule of Perez Hilton and it was a pity that Miss California USA officials allowed themselves to be sucked in.

But then scandals started to surface. It was discovered that Prejean withheld information from pageant officials that she had posed in photographs in her underwear and topless when she was 17 while trying to make it in the competitive world of modelling. Her Miss California crown was now threatened as she was being portrayed as a liar, morally questionable and a poor role model.

Donald Trump finally came to her rescue supporting her right to free speech, which was really the central issue here, and decided to give her the benefit of the doubt on the photos and let her keep her crown after all. It should have ended there.

But now Prejean has announced her new political activism. She'll be working with the National Organization for Marriage to protect traditional marriages.

She also told Christian icon Dr. James Dobson about Satan tempting her with the initial question about gay marriage.

If only Miss Prejean had simply ended with Trump, re-iterated her right to free speech and humbly apologized for lying about the photos, she would have done herself a huge favour. But the saga continues as the ominous clouds around the Miss USA Pageant continue to swirl and suck it up in a tornado of religion and politics.

Organizations hire consultants because they often bring a fresh set of eyes to an issue, problem or opportunity. By doing so, the organization, tacitly or actively, agrees that its employees may be having difficulty seeing the forest for the trees.

Employees' familiarity with an issue, event or process may cause them not to recognize opportunities or solutions that are staring them in the face. If you want to see what I mean, cover your watch with your hand and describe what is on the dial. Most people cannot tell you if the watch they are wearing has Arabic or Roman numerals or any numbers at all. If you don't wear a watch, find a clock with Roman numerals and look at the four. You just might notice that the IV on most clocks with Roman numerals is actually written as IIII. How many times have you looked at clock or watch with Roman numerals and not noticed the error?

The point I am making is when it comes to the city you live in, you may be quite capable of coming up with solutions to problems or approaches to issues the civic administration or city council have overlooked. Maybe you have thought up a better approach to pothole repair, a better way to schedule bus service or how to keep would-be artists from spray painting their tags all over public property.

Whenever you have an idea about how to make our city a better place in which to live, work or play, you have two choices: Keep it to yourself or share it with the public and our civic leaders. In the old days, this usually meant writing a letter to the editor and/or to the appropriate civic politician. But today, you have a lot more options on how to get your ideas heard and responded to.

It has been said that freedom of the press belongs to those who own the presses. Today, we all own presses: YouTube, Facebook, Twitter. We can use these channels to make our city officials aware of where you think they are doing a good job or where they could be doing things better.

Electronic communication is monitored by the city in the same way it monitors what is being said in the traditional media. If you want to make your voice heard, you now have ample ways of doing so.

CPP fund assets shrink 14%

Losses linked to equity market declines, executive says

PENSIONS The Canada Pension Plan Investment Board said Thursday the value of its assets under management shrank 14 per cent in fiscal 2009, which ended March 31.

The CPP board said it had assets of $105.5 billion for fiscal year 2009, down $17.2 billion after operating expenses from fiscal 2008 assets of $122.7 billion.

"The fund's decline for the year primarily reflects

"The fund's decline ... primarily reflects an investment return of negative 18.62 per cent ... offset by CPP contributions."

CPP Investment Board statement

an investment return of negative 18.62 per cent, or negative $23.6 billion, offset by CPP contributions of $6.6 billion," the CPP board said in a statement.

The value of assets under management at Canadian pension funds has tumbled in recent months as portfolios were battered by the worst financial crisis since the Great Depression.

Chief executive David Denison said the fund's losses were linked to declines in equity markets, both public and private.

Canadian public equities were down 32.3 per cent in fiscal 2009, compared with a 3.2 per cent gain in fiscal 2008.

Canadian private equities fell 7.8 per cent in fiscal 2009 and gained 2.2 per cent in fiscal 2008.

Public real estate had the poorest performance by asset class, down 43.7 per cent. The year before, public real estate also took the biggest hit, down 24.2 per cent.

Air Canada CEO seeks relief from pensions

PAYMENTS Air Canada chief executive Calin Rovinescu has taken to the Internet to spread his message about the desperate need for a moratorium on payments to the airline's various pension plans.

In his second YouTube "conversation" with employees since becoming CEO in April, Rovinescu said the cash-strapped airline can't afford to wait for Ottawa to complete a broader study of its pension rules, which is anticipated to provide relief for several struggling corporations.

Air Canada is facing a pension deficit of $2.85 billion.

He called on the airline's union leaders to support a moratorium, stressing that Air Canada does not intend to cut benefits or move away from the current benefit pension scheme, but the unions have so far been unreceptive.

Automakers set to lose $2.1B in '09: Board

FORECAST Auto manufacturers in Canada are expected to lose a combined $2.1 billion in 2009 and the industry will not turn a profit until at least 2011, the Conference Board of Canada said Thursday.

Anemic U.S. consumer demand pushed Canadian auto production down by 21 per cent last year and a further 36 per cent drop is forecast for 2009, bringing production back to 1992 levels, the board said in its twice-yearly outlook for auto manufacturing.

About 13,400 auto assembly jobs are forecast to be lost in 2009. In all, total industry costs this year will decline by 33 per cent.

How Canadians can turn a turbulent stock market into massive profits

"I've made money in every kind of market — up, down, and sideways. Let me show you why today's volatile market is ideal for investors."

George Fontanills, founder of Optionetics, is a Harvard-educated, internationally renowned best-selling author, and options trading expert.

Canada's economy is being hit hard along with the rest of the world. Job cuts are on the rise. Home values are falling like never before. The recession hits some industries hard, while others escape. From Vancouver to Toronto to Wall Street, it's little wonder the markets are volatile... up 100 to 200 points one day, and down 100 to 200 points the next. Most investors think they can't make money in markets like this. But I can show you how.

THE SECRET IS OPTIONS

Let's face it. For most people, buying a stock is a one-way street. They buy and hold the stock, hoping it will go up. But the smart investors know there's a much better way to profit in the market. In fact, they love the massive volatility of today's market because that's where the massive profits are made.

MARKET VOLATILITY WORKS TO YOUR ADVANTAGE

As the Canadian and global markets react to an economic meltdown and ensuing political battles, today's extreme volatility in the financial markets could become the new norm. Many investors have pulled out. But you can't make money sitting on the sidelines. It is time to change your investment strategy to one that can succeed in unstable markets.

OPTIONS EXCEL IN TURBULENT MARKETS

Certain wealthy investors have always known how to multiply their returns and minimize their risk. You see, for every $1,000 you put in stocks, they only put in $150 – $200 to achieve the same investment muscle. How? Because they use options to leverage or control a stock rather than buy it, extending the power of their investment dollar. That's how the wealthy play the stock market, without the risk of actually buying the stock.

We need to believe in Bolt

FieldofPlay

Scott Russell

metroneWS.ca/fieldofplay

Bolt. Even his name sizzles with speed. Usain Bolt "World's Fastest Man."

It would be nice to believe he's the real deal, not just another athlete propelled more by chemicals than his own determination.

Then again, assume nothing in the modern age of sport. In a time where baseball players are paid $161 million over seven years and where bankruptcy dealings steal the hockey headlines, very little is pure. Even swimmers await rulings on the admissibility of synthetic suits, which must meet standards of buoyancy, thickness and water resistance.

You've got to be kidding!

Amidst the distraction, Bolt runs. And he keeps getting faster. His latest feat is a new world record at 150 metres in Manchester. He's a testament to what is possible for the human race.

Usain Bolt is 22 years old, stands six-foot-five and weighs 190 pounds soaking wet. Not your typical sprinter. He won three gold medals at last summer's Beijing Olympics setting world records in the 100-, 200- and 4x100-metre events. He's the first man in history to turn that trick.

"I think he's the next generation of running," says Alex Gardiner, Canada's head track and field coach. "I hope I'm not proven wrong." Gardiner has been following Bolt since the Jamaican kid appeared on the international scene at the world youth championships in Sherbrooke, Que., in 2003.

In Beijing, the masses loved him. Bolt danced and mugged for the cameras every time he raced. Once across the finish line, he held his golden shoes aloft and kissed them.

It was glorious to watch. Bolt will run in Canada in Toronto's Festival of Excellence at the new Varsity Stadium on June 11. It's important for his sport that he's going to be here.

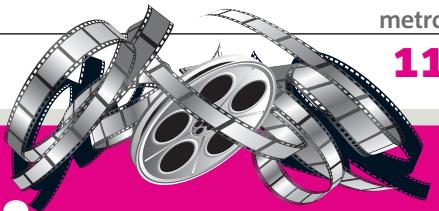

"It's really saying that track and field is back," Gardiner says.

Let's hope he's right. Let's hope Bolt is what he appears to be: An exceptionally gifted athlete who demonstrates that human kind is capable of getting faster and stronger on its own two feet.

Lord knows there is a need to believe in Bolt.

Scott Russell is the Host of CBC Sports Weekend seen Saturday afternoons. He has covered professional and amateur sports including nine Olympic games and numerous world championships.

Night at the Museum: Battle of the Smithsonian

Director: Shawn Levy
Stars: Ben Stiller, Amy Adams
Classification: PG

STEVE GOW
 for Metro Canada

In 2006's Night at the Museum, technology allowed Ben Stiller to realistically wrestle all sorts of taxidermy in New York's Museum of Natural History. Now in Battle of the Smithsonian, Stiller goes to Washington D.C. and pretty much does the same thing.

Well, almost.

He may have gone from security guard to shilling dodgy products (like the unloseable key ring) on TV, but Larry Daley (Stiller) is still drawn back to the museum only to discover his nocturnal pals being cartered off to the Smithsonian for storage.

But when the magical tablet that animates the historical figures accidentally accompanies them, a villainous Egyptian pharaoh (Hank Azaria) plots to unleash an evil army from the dead. That is, if Larry doesn't stop him first.

Yes, it's a thin premise but then, nobody is going to this movie for the intricacies of the storyline. Instead, this film is all about seeing giant CGI squids, Einstein bobble-heads and the Abe Lincoln Memorial come to life.

To that end, this movie works at a frantic pace, wasting no time getting into the action, inundating the audience with thick effects and pausing only to deliver a watered-down history lesson now and again.

While a cluster of surprising cameo appearances (including the Jonas Brothers?) keeps the energy up, many other jokes simply fall flat, stretch out too long or just aren't funny in the first place.

Director: Atom Egoyan
Stars: Scott Speedman, Devon Bostick
Classification: 14A
Rating: 1/2

CHRIS ALEXANDER
 for Metro Canada

REVIEW Somewhere buried within the body of Adoration — the latest tale of damaged lives from Canadian filmmaker Atom Egoyan — is a decent drama about cultural intolerance and its devastating effect on a family.

Shame then that the director's leanings toward self-indulgence steer the story into the realms of hopelessly pretentious twaddle.

Gawky but game young actor Devon Bostick stars as Simon, a Toronto-based teen who, desperately trying to reconcile the conflicting emotions surrounding the death of his mother and Lebanese father, allows his high school French teacher (Egoyan's wife and regular cinematic muse Arsinee Khanjian) to treat a classroom translation exercise as autobiographical.

Detailing the events surrounding his father's failed terrorist martyring of his mother at an Israeli airport, his fictional monologue is soon posted online, causing a massive controversy, much to the chagrin of his haunted guardian and uncle, Tom (Underworld's Scott Speedman).

ll through history the great religions have spoken to the return of a future teacher. The Christians hope for the return of the Christ, the Buddhists look for the coming of a new Buddha, while the Muslims await the Imam Madhi, the Hindus a reincarnation of Krishna and the Jews the Messiah. How will we know Him? Surely He will ring our hearts with a message of sharing, justice and brotherhood. How can we prepare the way for Him? Each day brings opportunities, large and small, to act in favor of unity and justice. Our willingness to share will make a real difference in our world.

Looking for rock in Asia

Many Indonesian record stores stock pre-recorded cassettes.

Anyone who's not experienced the time-and-space disruption of jet lag will probably tell you that it's all in your head and you should just buck up and get back to work. But if you've ever experienced massive longitudinal displacement over a short period of time understand that the physical, mental and emotional effects are quite real. Having just returned from the far side of the planet — 12 full time zones away from my natural reality — I can once again vouch that jet lag is very, very real.

So before I completely lose it — it'll take a few more days for my body and mind to re-sync — here's what I found on my musical reconnaissance mission through Southeast Asia.

There isn't much of a rock scene, yet: Hong Kong, Thailand, Singapore and Malaysia are mostly about pop music, ballads and love songs. Rock scenes do exist, but they tend to be small, insular and confined to tiny clubs. That being said, they're learning fast. I found several bands, including A Vacant Affair who could find an audience in the West with fans who like Alexisonfire.

Bootlegging is rampant: Indonesia is especially ripe with piracy, although there is a legitimate industry there as well. Superman is Dead sounds like a slightly slicker NOFX. (Interesting note: Many Indonesian record stores still stock pre-recorded cassettes.)

There's no place for big bands to play in Hong Kong:

There are some outdoor venues, but stringent noise bylaws get in the way. They once tried an experiment where everyone was given gloves to mute the applause and headphones so that the PA didn't have to be too loud. Oddly, that didn't work.

Want alternative and metal? Try Beijing: You'll find some pretty fierce stuff being played right under the noses of the Party bosses in Tiananmen Square. The music is loud and very, very angry. Many bands sing in Mandarin or Cantonese, but they get the message across.

And don't forget Malaysia: Call it the Linkin Park Effect. They're huge draws in places like Kuala Lumpur and have obviously been inspiring to a good number of local musicians.

If you ever find yourself in Hong Kong, check out a store called Rendezvous Records in Star House (right across from the Star Ferry docks in Kowloon). Staff is very helpful and the store's import selection is excellent.

Eminem set to top charts with Relapse

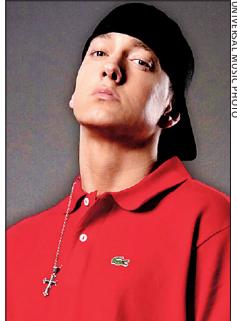

CHARTS Rap singer Eminem's first studio album in four years focuses more on his drug problems than rants against celebrities and relatives, but the newfound introspection is not expected to block his rise up the charts.

Relapse was released worldwide this week and is likely to debut at No. 1 on the U.S. pop charts next week.

Trade publication Billboard said Relapse could sell as many as 650,000 copies across the United States in its first week, making it the biggest debut so far this year. But the estimated sales pale against those of his previous releases, a result of the recorded-music industry's decline.

His previous studio album, 2004's "Encore" sold 711,000 copies in its first week. His best performer was his second album, The Marshall Mathers LP, which opened with sales of almost 1.8 million copies in 2000.

While Eminem's albums have skewered other singers such as Britney Spears, Moby and Mariah Carey as well as his mother and ex-wife, Relapse deals more with his drug addictions, overdoses, depression and stints in and out of rehabilitation.

"It's no secret I had a drug problem, I just don't think my fans knew how bad it was," Eminem, who has kept a low profile at his Detroit-area home in recent years, wrote in an article for the hip-hop magazine Vibe.

"If I was to give you a number of (painkiller) Vicodin I would actually take in a day? Anywhere between 10 and 20. Valium, Ambien, the numbers got so high I don't even know what I was taking," he wrote of his penchant for the common tranquilizers.

O'Riordan preps second solo album

RELEASES Former Cranberries singer Dolores O'Riordan will release her second solo record in the United States on Aug. 25.

No Baggage will be distributed by Rounder Records' rock imprint Zoë. O'Riordan co-produced the 11-track set with Dan Brodbeck, her partner on Are You Listening?, her 2007 solo debut on Sanctuary Records.

The Cranberries have been on an indefinite hiatus since 2003.

"I decided to give up music for awhile — not be in a band, not be on a label, and not be in a box," the 37-year-old Irishwoman told Billboard.com. "You get all this adoration, but you don't know how to take it when you're young. This is something I'm doing for myself."

Metro recommends

• 21st Century Breakdown, Green Day: Sprawling rock opera meshes melodic anthems and ornate ballads with plenty of angst and punk-guitar punch.

• Divided By Night, The Crystal Method: Intricate, big-beat techno that favours a live mix of swirling synthesizers, drums and guest vocals.

• Black Diamond, Buraka Som Sistema: Kuduro dance music from Portugal — a feverish fusion of ragged electronica, soca rhythms and afro-beats.

Mike Ruiz, Canada's Next Top Model judge.

Beauty's in the eye of the judge

Photographer Mike Ruiz forms strong bonds on Canada's Next Top Model panel

BRIAN COULTON
for Metro Canada

The walk, the look, the appeal — Mike Ruiz knows what a girl needs to be a top model. But what he's looking for goes beyond classic beauty.

"It's a combination of a lot of things, most of which is innate. It's nothing you can really put your finger on. And because she is going to become a spokesperson for the Top Model brand, and also for Canada, we also needed a very smart, articulate, funny person," he said.

Ruiz is the latest addition to the panel of judges on Canada's Next Top Model, which premieres its third season Tuesday on CTV.

He joins host and America's Next Top Model regular

Jay Manuel, fashion journalist Jeanne Beker and supermodel Yasmin Warsame, who will decide which of 11 model hopefuls will take the CNTM crown and a $100,000 beauty contract, based on a series of weekly challenges.

Spotting top models is nothing new for Ruiz. Once a model himself, the Montreal native and celebrity photographer has shot girls and sat alongside Tyra Banks, playing guest judge on previous seasons of ANTM.

"This season, it gets a little dramatic ... let's just put it that way," he said. "The energy level is definitely amped up and definitely comparable."

Heightened energy equals heightened emotion for Ruiz, who never expected to form strong attachments to the contestants. He'd seen judges get teary-eyed on ANTM and always thought, "What's the big deal?"

"I didn't expect to be a blubbering little girl on air!" he said with a laugh. "By two or three judgments in, I was so heavily invested in all the girls that it just became so difficult. I shed more than one tear on camera, sending girls home."

CW to make Supernatural leap to Thursdays

The CW is the latest network to throw its hat in the Thursday ring with a bold scheduling move on the most lucrative night on television.

The network plans to slot hot new drama Vampire Diaries on 8 p.m. Thursdays, paired with Supernatural.

New drama Melrose Place will be paired with 90210, repeating the launch pattern for the original Melrose Place, which followed Beverly Hills, 90210 on Fox in fall 1992.

Focusing on a group of young male and female models, the new drama Beautiful Life is considered a perfect scripted companion for America's Next Top Model and will launch after the hit reality series on Wednesdays.

The CW's flagship Monday lineup of Gossip Girl and One Tree Hill will stay intact. The network recently announced that it will stop programming Sunday nights, enabling its affiliated stations to air what they choose.

Smallville had been in the Thursday 8 p.m. period for the past four seasons. The Superman drama landed on Thursday in fall 2005, when it was on the WB, and was joined several months later by then-freshman series Supernatural.

Vampire Diaries, based on the Alloy Entertainment series of teen vampire books, is envisioned as a central element of the Thursday schedule, where the CW has a built-in sci-fi audience with Smallville and Supernatural. REUTERS

Rihanna's Canadian boyfriend?

OH CANADA After quietly continuing to see Chris Brown after she was allegedly beaten by him in February, Rihanna stepped out with a new guy on Monday night in N.Y.C., a source tells People magazine.

Rihanna, 21, stopped by Lucky Strike Lanes & Lounge with 10 pals for some bowling, drinks and plenty of PDA with Canadian hip-hop artist Aubrey (Drake) Graham, a source — adding that the singer, who was “absolutely glowing,” sipped whiskey and apple juice while staying close to Graham.

“The two of them were stealing kisses here and there the whole night,” says the source.

The singer’s group danced until midnight, when the new pair left together. “They were very cute. Both of them were in really good spirits (and) she was having a great time,” adds the source.

Graham, an actor, is best known for playing wheelchair-bound Jimmy Brooks on Degrassi: The Next Generation. Also known as Drake in the hip-hop world, the Toronto native is a protégé of rapper Lil Wayne.

Reps for Rihanna and Graham could not be reached for comment. Reports about the pair first appeared in the New York Post’s Page Six.

Britney a-Twitter on beach vacay

FAMILY TIME Britney Spears showed off her fit bikini bod while on vacation in The Bahamas Wednesday, usmagazine.com reports. “Nothing better than a day at the beach with my family!” she wrote on Twitter.

The 27-year-old spent time building sand castles with her sons Sean Preston, 3, and Jayden James, 2. She also hung out with her dad, Jamie, brother Bryan and agent, Jason Trawick.

The singer just wrapped up the North American leg of her Circus tour. She kicks off her European shows on June 3 in London.

Amy takes turn for worse?

BACKSLIDE Amy Winehouse was hospitalized again recently in St. Lucia, where she has been living since the new year.

“She was complaining of chest pains so the doctor advised her to come in and she was kept in for observation and then released,” a spokesman confirmed to the Daily Mirror. This is the third time Winehouse has been hospitalized in three months.

She’s set to return to the U.K. for a concert next Sunday, but friends worry her drinking will get in the way.

The troubled singer — who is living on the Caribbean island while she writes new material — wants to make her stay permanent by purchasing a luxurious, $6-million US home, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The Rehab singer is interested in a 2.5-acre, six-bedroom beachside estate called Shingle Cove.

Amy, 25, says of her restorative time in St. Lucia: “I’m in the best place I’ve been for ages. I’m getting lots of exercise and have been able to relax.”

Cancer behind MJ's show delay?

RUMOUR MILL Michael Jackson has delayed his comeback tour, femalefirst.co.uk reports. The singer will now kick off his London residency on July 13, five days later than originally planned.

Shows scheduled to take place on July 10, 12 and 14 have been postponed to 2010.

It has been reported the 50-year-old star was to have surgery for alleged skin cancer yesterday, in which doctors were to remove cancerous flesh on his chest and nose. Jackson may also need radiation, according to Britain’s The Sun.

Randy Phillips, president of tour promoter AEG Live, dismissed Jackson’s rumoured cancer battle and stressed the delay is down to the “massive and technically complex show.”

He said: “Michael is not sleeping with elephants and not suffering skin cancer. He’s a magnet for weird stories but he’s in great shape. I’d trade my body for his tomorrow.”

“This show has grown in size and scope, thereby necessitating more lead time.” METRO NEWS SERVICES

Beyoncé's struggle for a bootylicious body

HEALTH AND EXERCISE Beyoncé Knowles struggles to keep her bootylicious body, usmagazine.com reports.

“I’m not one of those people who doesn’t have to work at it,” the singer-actress, 27, tells the June issue of Self magazine. “I can’t eat what I want, and I can’t not go to the gym.”

“I’m trying to do as much cardio as I can, so if I have a really long day of dancing (in rehearsals), then I’ll run maybe three miles,” Knowles told the magazine a few days before her I Am... tour kicked off.

“If not, then I’ll run six,” she continues. And that doesn’t include her weight routine.

“I’ll put on a song that I really like and do (biceps curls with) five-pound weights (for) the whole song and just try to burn out,” she says.

Bette and Fiddy friends?

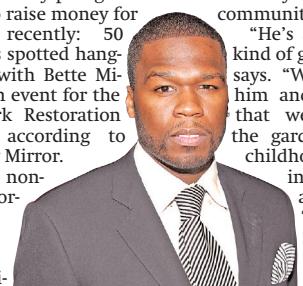

OPPOSITES ATTRACT? An unlikely celebrity pair got together to raise money for charity recently: 50 Cent was spotted hanging out with Bette Midler at an event for the New York Restoration Project, according to the Daily Mirror.

The non-profit organization, founded by Midler, aims to create and restore the city’s parks and community gardens.

“He’s a give-back kind of guy,” Midler says. “We came to him and proposed that we renovate the garden (at his childhood home in Queen’s) ... and he said: ‘Where do I sign?’”

Hayden could 'regret' tattoo

SHOULD’VE SPELLCHECKED Heroes star Hayden Panettiere has been sporting a new tattoo, an Italian phrase running down the left side of her back in script.

The tattoo should read, “Vivere senza rimpianti,” or “live without regrets.” But unfortunately for the 19-year-old actress, the last word of the phrase is misspelled, according to Perez Hilton, making it instead read, “live without rimipi- anti.”
